The first edition of Study in Venice Summer School will be curated by Giorgio Andreotta Calò (Venice, 1979), an artist who sees the city of Venice as a privileged observatory from which to try to understand the changes that are taking place on a macroscopic scale.

The focus of the Summer School will be water, the element that most characterises the territory. The practice of walking will become an instrument for exploring the city and its immediate surroundings and students will be guided by professors from the four partner institutions on a journey combining the hands-on exploration of the city with guided tours and university lectures on archaeology, architecture, art and music history, performing arts and environmental science.

Dates: July 4th – 22nd (3 weeks)

Location: Venice, Italy – Ca' Foscari University, School for International Education (SIE)

Credits: 2 ECTS

Fees: € Fees for the full 3 weeks cost €700. Programme fees cover all instruction and field activities, student administration (including the issue of a final transcript) and orientation. All participants will have access to the University Wifi network in all University buildings (including at the libraries and the cafeterias). Accommodation can be booked at one of our student residences for a competitive rate.

Applications: Apply online by April 25th, 2022: www.unive.it/summer-international. Students are required to be currently enrolled at a higher education institution, and have a certified B1 level of the English language.

Who we are

Study in Venice is a network of four of the most prominent higher education institutions in Venice: the Venice Academy of Fine Arts, the Benedetto Marcello Music Conservatory, Ca' Foscari University and Luav University of Venice. We aim to create meaningful and engaging initiatives which promote international education in the fields of each partner university, and within the beautiful context of Venice.
